AGENDA

12:00 PM Introduction

12:10 PM Presentation: ‘Client Data Rights - Privacy Post Cambridge Analytics’, by Sart Rowe, Northwest Justice Project

In a world where no one reads Terms of Service and Congress is suspicious of the business models that resell user data, are we about to face massive regulations? This and other questions will be discussed along with a breakdown of privacy issues implicated in the recent Zuckerberg/Facebook hearings. Topics will include:

- What does real disclosure look like on the internet?
- Can a user own data?
- Is data about IP rights of ownership or access and control?

1:15 PM Adjourn
